

RIMSHA WAQAR

Software Developer

ABOUT ME

My experience and proficiency in Oracle APEX, PL/SQL, and SQL development have enabled me to design and develop robust, database-driven applications that meet the specific needs of organizations. I have a strong track record of delivering projects on time and within budget, ensuring that businesses can streamline their processes and achieve their goals more efficiently.

In addition, I have a keen eye for optimizing database performance and ensuring data security. I have successfully implemented best practices to enhance application performance and safeguard sensitive information, providing peace of mind to clients and stakeholders.

My dedication to the IT field, my commitment to staying at the forefront of technological advancements, and my drive to create innovative solutions have propelled my career, and I am excited to continue making meaningful contributions to the ever-evolving world of technology.
